NEW QUESTION: 4

Which command is used to replicate HTTP connections from the Active to the Standby Cisco ASA appliance in failover?

- A. failover link fover replicate http
- B. No command is needed, as this is the default behavior.
- C. monitor-interface http
- D. failover replication http
- E. interface fover replicate http standby

Answer: D

Explanation:

To allow HTTP connections to be included in the state information replication, you need to enable HTTP replication. Because HTTP connections are typically short-lived, and because THTTP clients typically retry failed connection attempts, HTTP connections are not automatically included in the replicated state information.
