NEW QUESTION: 3

The proposal to forbid the use of indoor furniture on front porches has divided the town along ___ lines: the affluent feel the old couches are eyesores, while those who cannot afford new outdoor furniture are ___ about what they feel is an attempt to restrict their lifestyle.

- A. socioeconomic . . incensed
- B. class . . pleased
- C. political . . nonplussed
- D. aesthetic . . dismayed
- E. racial . . angry

Answer: A

Explanation:

Because the second half of the sentence contrasts "the affluent" with "those who cannot afford new outdoor furniture," we can see that the first blank should be filled with a word referring to class or economic differences. This narrows the possibilities to choices C. and (E). Choice C. doesn't work because an attempt to restrict someone's lifestyle wouldn't logically make them feel "pleased."
