NEW QUESTION: 1As the technical lead for your project, you have been asked to recommend a new solution to handle frequently increasing loads on your applications. The Weblogic 12.1.2 domain currently runs with two clusters of three servers with request being filtered and passed by a proxy server that uses the round-robin algorithm. However, the load sometimes exceeds the maximum capacity of all these servers combined but your domain lacks in scalability. What is the best implementation solution?A. Tune work managers to optimize work.B. Modify the proxy server load balancing algorithm to weight based.C.

Add a third cluster and spread existing server instances across the clusters. D. Replace the software load balancer with a hardware load balancer. E. Configure dynamic clusters and specify the number of server instances you anticipate at needing at peak load. Answer: E

NEW QUESTION: 2 A password represents: A. Something you have. B. Something you know. C. All of the choices. D. Something you are. Answer: B Explanation: The canonical example of something you know is a password or pass phrase. You might type or speak the value. A number of schemes are possible for obtaining what you know. It might be assigned to you, or you may have picked the value yourself. Constraints may exist regarding the form the value can take, or the alphabet from which you are allowed to construct the value might be limited to letters only. If you forget the value, you may not be able to authenticate yourself to the system.
