NEW QUESTION: 1

Which option describes how a VTPv3 device responds when it detects a VTPv2 device on a trunk port?

- A. It sends VTPv2 packets only.
- B. It sends VTPv3 and VTPv2 packets.
- C. It sends a special packet that contains VTPv3 and VTPv2 packet information.
- D. It sends VTPv3 packets only.

Answer: B

Explanation:

Explanation/Reference:

Explanation:

When a VTP version 3 device on a trunk port receives messages from a VTP version 2 device, the VTP version 3 device sends a scaled-down version of the VLAN database on that particular trunk in a VTP version 2 format. A VTP version 3 device does not send out VTP version 2-formatted packets on a trunk port unless it first receives VTP version 2 packets on that trunk. If the VTP version 3 device does not receive VTP version 2 packets for an interval of time on the trunk port, the VTP version 3 device stops transmitting VTP version 2 packets on that trunk port. Even when a VTP version 3 device detects a VTP version 2 device on a trunk port, the VTP version 3 device continues to send VTP version 3 packets in addition to VTP version 3 device 2 packets, to allow two kinds of neighbors to coexist on the trunk. VTP version 3 sends VTP version 3 and VTP version 2 updates on VTP version 2-detected trunks.
