NEW QUESTION: 1

You have a server named Server1 that runs Windows Server 2012. On Server1, you configure a custom Data Collector Set (DCS) named DCS1.

You need to ensure that all performance log data that is older than 30 days is deleted automatically.

What should you configure?

- A. The Data Manager settings of DCS1
- B. A schedule for DCS1
- C. A File Server Resource Manager (FSRM) quota on the %Systemdrive%\PerfLogs folder
- D. A File Server Resource Manager (FSRM) file screen on the %Systemdrive%\PerfLogs folder

Answer: A

NEW QUESTION: 2

Because changing the operational mode to Transparent resets device (or vdom) to all defaults, which precautions should an Administrator take prior to performing this? (Select all that apply.)

- A. Backup the configuration.
- B. Update IPS and AV files.
- C. Set the unit to factory defaults.
- D. Disconnect redundant cables to ensure the topology will not contain layer 2 loops.

Answer: A,D

NEW QUESTION: 3

Which statement correctly compares traditional networks and controller-based networks?

- A. Only traditional networks offer a centralized control plane
- B. Traditional and controller-based networks abstract policies from device configurations
- C. Only controller-based networks decouple the control plane and the data plane
- D. Only traditional networks natively support centralized management

Answer: C

Explanation:

Most traditional devices use a distributed architecture, in which each control plane is resided in a networking device. Therefore they need to communicate with each other via messages to work correctly.

In contrast to distributed architecture, centralized (or controller-based) architectures centralizes the control of networking devices into one device, called SDN controller -> Answer D is correct.
