NEW QUESTION: 1

A customer needs to create a product share calculation. What are the two ways that they would get the revenue for all products to use in the denominator?

- A. Create a derived measure by using the addition function that adds each product value together.
- B. Create a derived metric by using the Expression Builder.
- C. Create a derived measure based on Revenue that has all the levels selected on the Level Tab of the Logical Column Dialog except Total Product.
- D. Create a derived measure based on Revenue that has the Level Total Product selected on the Level Tab of the Logical Column Dialog.

Answer: A,C

Explanation:

Note: A level-based measure is a column whose values are always calculated to a specific level of aggregation.

The calculation of this measure is independent of the query grain and used always the aggregation grain of the logical column.

Level-based measures allow :

*to return data at multiple levels of aggregation (the query grain and the level-based column grain) with one single query
 *to create share measures (percentage), that are calculated by taking some measure and dividing it by a level-based measure. For example, you can divide salesperson revenue by regional revenue to calculate the share of the regional revenue each salesperson generates.

NEW QUESTION: 2

You are the administrator for a network that runs Windows Small Business Server (SBS) 2011 Standard with Premium Add-On. Company policy prohibits remote access to desktop computers. Users are permitted remote access to RemoteApp applications that run on the Premium Add-On server. When users travel, they must be able to access the applications from public kiosk computers. You need to purchase Client Access Licenses to support this functionality. Which type of client access licenses (CALs) are the most cost effective?

- A. Remote Desktop Services (RDS) User CALs.
- B. Windows Small Business Server Premium Add-On User CALs.
- C. Windows Small Business Server Premium Add-On Device CALs.
- D. Remote Desktop Services (RDS) Device CALs.
