A. The eSpace Desktop initiates an authentication request to the eServer through the firewall. B. The eServer sends the intranet IP address of the SIP server to the eSpace Desktop. C. The eSpace Desktop initiates a voice registration request to the extranet IP address of the SBC. D. The eSpace Desktop initiates an authentication request to the eServer through the SBC. Answer: A, C

NEW QUESTION: 4 To justify its ongoing security budget, which of the following would be of MOST use to the information security department? A. Security breach frequency B. Peer group comparison C. Annualized loss expectancy (ALE) D. Cost-benefit analysis

Answer: D Explanation: Cost-benefit analysis is the legitimate way to justify budget. The frequency of security breaches may assist the argument for budget but is not the key tool; it does not address the impact. Annualized loss expectancy (ALE) does not address the potential benefit of security investment. Peer group comparison would provide a good estimate for the necessary security budget but it would not take into account the specific needs of the organization.
