- D. The router needs to be in the admin EXEC mode.
- E. The router needs to be in the global configuration mode.

Answer: D

NEW QUESTION: 2

A security analyst implemented group-based privileges within the company active directory. Which of the following account management techniques should be undertaken regularly to ensure least privilege principles?

- A. Leverage role-based access controls.
- B. Perform user group clean-up.
- C. Verify SHA-256 for password hashes.
- D. Verify smart card access controls.

Answer: B

Explanation:

Active Directory (AD) has no built-in clean-up feature. This can result in obsolete user, group and computer objects accumulating over time and placing security and compliance objectives in jeopardy. You would therefore need to regularly clean-up these settings.

Incorrect Answers:

- A. Reusing role-based access controls would not ensure least privilege principles.
- C. Smart cards are credit-card-sized IDs, badges, or security passes with an embedded integrated circuit chip that allows you to physically access secure facilities. This would not ensure least privilege principles.
- D. Hashing is used to detect violations of data integrity. This would not ensure least privilege principles.

- B. Conflict detection can be run manually.

C. All the mentioned statements are true.

D. Conflict detection is executed every time an active change request is updated.

Answer: C

NEW QUESTION: 4

On January 2, 1993, Quo, Inc. hired Reed to be its controller. During the year, Reed, working closely with Quo's president and outside accountants, made changes in accounting policies, corrected several errors dating from 1992 and before, and instituted new accounting policies.

Quo's 1993 financial statements will be presented in comparative form with its 1992 financial statements.

This question represents one of Quo's transactions. List A represents possible clarifications of these transactions as: a change in accounting principle, a change in accounting estimate, a correction of an error in previously presented financial statements, or neither an accounting change nor an accounting error.

During 1993, Quo increased its investment in Worth, Inc. from a 10% interest, purchased in 1992, to 30%, and acquired a seat on Worth's board of directors. As a result of its increased investment, Quo changed its method of accounting for investment in Worth, Inc. from the cost method to the equity method.

List A

A. Change in accounting estimate.

B. Change in accounting principle.

C. Correction of an error in previously presented financial statements.

D. Neither an accounting change nor an accounting error.

Answer: D
