Answer: A, B

NEW QUESTION: 2

Which of the following is a time series data?
A. The number of employees in a company over a period of 10 years.
B. The number of employees in a company at a given time.
C. The number of employees in a company at a given time and the number of employees in a company at a given time.
D. The number of employees in a company at a given time and the number of employees in a company at a given time.

Answer: C

Explanation:

Time series data pertain to a given entity over a number of prior time periods. Cross sectional data, however, pertain to different entities for a given time period or at a given time. Thus, cross-sectional regression analysis is the most appropriate statistical tool because it compares attributes of all stores' operating statistics at one moment in time.
