Network-based Intrusion Detection systems:

- A. Commonly reside on a host and and monitor the traffic on that specific host.
- B. Commonly reside on a discrete network segment and monitor the traffic on that network segment.
- C. Commonly reside on a discrete network segment and does not monitor the traffic on that network segment.
- D. Commonly will not reside on a discrete network segment and monitor the traffic on that network segment.

Answer: B

Explanation:

Explanation/Reference:

Network-based ID systems:

- Commonly reside on a discrete network segment and monitor the traffic on that network segment
 - Usually consist of a network appliance with a Network Interface Card (NIC) that is operating in promiscuous mode and is intercepting and analyzing the network packets in real time
- "A passive NIDS takes advantage of promiscuous mode access to the network, allowing it to gain visibility into every packet traversing the network segment. This allows the system to inspect packets and monitor sessions without impacting the network, performance, or the systems and applications utilizing the network."

NOTE FROM CLEMENT:

A discrete network is a synonym for a SINGLE network. Usually the sensor will monitor a single network segment, however there are IDS today that allow you to monitor multiple LAN's at the same time.
