NEW QUESTION: 2The finance manager has requested the creation of a request set. The intention of the request set is to load GL journals from an external system. All the concurrent programs to be used by the set have been developed. The set includes a combination of custom and standard programs. The finance department is currently running the programs individually and there have been issues. The purpose of the set is to standardize the submission process. The first stage of the set should execute a concurrent program to load the flat file containing the Interface records into an interface table. The user should be required to enter the path and file name when submitting the request set. If the first stage is successful, the set should execute the second stage, which is a concurrent program to pre-validate the contents of the interface table, process them, and put them into GL Interface. This concurrent program currently has a parameter to limit the execution to a certain set of data, but for this particular request set the finance manager does not want the person submitting the report to set or see the parameter. If the pre validation program in the second stage completes normally, the set should start the third stage which runs journal import. The entire set of parameters for journal import should be defaulted in the report set definition to appropriate values. They should be visible to the user submitting the request, but they should not have the ability to change them. If the pre validation program fails the set should start the fourth stage, which runs the pre-validation programs exception report. The exception report normally has no parameters but for the execution this set the finance manager would like to add a parameter to limit the exception report to the list of exceptions for this run of the report set. After the exception report is finished the report set should terminate. After journal import is completed in stage 3, the report set should submit stage 5, which executes one of the journal entry detail reports. This report has the set of books as a parameter. This should be the profile option for the user's responsibility. If the profile option is not set for the responsibility the parameter should be displayed and set by the user running the set. If the profile option is set for the responsibility then the parameter should be hidden from the user. Analyze the above requirements and identify two requirements that are problematic to implement by (performing the setups required to make the request set. (Choose two.)

A. The request set cannot be configured to default the parameters for journal Import and prevent users from changing them when the set is submitted.

B. Stage 2 cannot optionally start stage 3 or stage 5 dependent on the outcome of stage 2.

C. The user would not be permitted to enter the file name to load in stage 1 because parameter values can only be assigned in the set definition.

D. The journal entry detail report cannot hide the set of books parameter from the user on the basis of whether or not the default value contains a value or is null.

E. The parameter to limit the output of the pre-validation exception report does not exist. Therefore, the report set cannot use that in the set setup.
